Celebrating 50 Years of Carlisle Events at Spring Carlisle 2024

The running success of our first event, Postwar '74 (Fall Carlisle), led to the addition of Spring Carlisle in April 1977. In just seven years it was larger than its fall counterpart and by the mid-80s, both events' sold out status continued for longer than a decade with every vending space rented. Demand for Car Corral space was so high that as cars were sold, the spaces were recycled to those on a waiting list. Admission for both events remained $1 through 1981. Spring Carlisle is still the largest event on the annual schedule.

About Spring Carlisle

- The Car Corral was introduced the first year as a person-to-person vehicle sales area, eliminating the need to continue the car auctions previously held at the fall event.
- Less than a month before the event in 1979 there was a partial meltdown at the Three Mile Island Nuclear Generating Station located only 45 minutes away. Carlisle was named an evacuation area emergency center. Despite the scare, Spring Carlisle went on as planned with only one vendor cancellation.
- Rainfall converted a lot of the facility into mud in 1986. Farm tractors were rented to help get vendors into their spaces and to pull vehicles out of the mud. After the event, fire companies washed the streets outside the fairgrounds.
- It snowed enough in 1993 to make snowmen. Flurries sometimes make an appearance but nothing like 1993 has happened since.
- A Saturday-only toy show was held inside the elementary school next to Gate 1 in 1996-1999.
- Vendors who have been coming since 1982 are bold in the index
